

Meet your CFMT Relationship Manager

Jacob Tudor, M.M., CAP®, CFRE

Jake serves as the Philanthropic Services Senior Manager, where he focuses on supporting a portfolio of fundholders, organizing donor education events, and fostering engagement among second-generation donors, as well as young professionals in Nashville.

Jacob brings a wealth of experience in patron engagement and donor relations having previously served as Customer Success Specialist at ServiceSource, Patron Engagement Officer and Manager at the Nashville Symphony, and Individual Giving Coordinator at the Cleveland Institute of Music.

Outside of work, Jacob remains an actively performing violinist, a dedicated CrossFitter, and a proud dog dad to his Aussiedoodle, Hagrid.

Fun Facts about Jake

Fun Fact about my background:

I'm a professional violinist with a master's degree in classical violin performance from Belmont University. I've been fortunate to perform with several of CFMT's Entertainment Philanthropists, including live with Lauren Daigle (The Price Fund) at Carnegie Hall and filmed for KING + COUNTRY's (The Unsung Heroes Fund: A for KING + COUNTRY Foundation) "A Silent Night at Museum of the Bible" (2021) Christmas Special. I even played at the wedding of Garth Brooks and Trisha Yearwood's (Dottie's Yard Fund) daughter, Ally Brooks. I continue to perform all the time, so you never know what event or stage I might be on next!

Go-to way to unwind:

Heading to Alchemy Fit Life. Conquering a workout builds a mental toughness that helps me handle the stresses of everyday life and reminds me that I have the strength to face any challenge, both inside and outside the gym.

Coffee or tea:

I start every morning with a homemade Americano using a moka pot and locally roasted beans. Setting aside time each morning to make and enjoy my Americano is integral to my routine, and also provides the opportunity to ground myself (pun intended) in preparation of the day ahead.

A fun or unusual item in your workspace:

I have lots of llama-themed items decorating my space, from a dapper llama portrait to a llama Chia Pet, plus signs that say "Llama Parking Only" and "No Prob-llama." It definitely keeps the vibe light and fun!

What motivates you most in your work?

What motivates me most is getting to work for an organization whose mission is to build a thriving and more inclusive community - because it means that my day-to-day work advances the issues I care deeply about, while also serving the passions and priorities of others in the community.
